

Draft Public Consultation Survey: Canterbury District Biodiversity Strategy

Canterbury City Council is currently reviewing its Biodiversity Strategy following its declaration of a biodiversity and climate emergency in 2023.

This strategy builds on existing council plans and aims to:

- raise awareness of biodiversity issues across the district.
- provide a clear framework to guide decision-making for everyone involved in nature recovery - from communities to landowners, schools, businesses and developers.

We're inviting feedback on our draft Biodiversity Strategy, which sets out 34 key actions grouped under six themes:

- Strategic policy working
- Partnership working
- Delivery
- Community working
- Funding
- Audit and planning

These actions are designed to support everyone working together to protect and restore nature in our district and deliver our vision for nature recovery as depicted in our wilding map on page 6.

Importantly, this strategy is not starting from scratch.

It builds on the incredible work already being done by voluntary groups and community organisations across the district.

We want to hear from you:

- do these themes and ambitions reflect your priorities?
- are there any areas or actions you feel are missing?
- how can we better support your work in nature recovery?

Your input will help shape a strategy that reflects the values and needs of our natural habitats and species and enables us to create a network of individuals and groups across the district working together to recover our biodiversity.

Please see Privacy Notice for this consultation to find out how we store, process and share your personal information.
